

Definitions

The Lioncare Group takes its responsibility for Health & Safety in the workplace very seriously. We define Health & Safety as, “Preventing people from being harmed by work or becoming ill, by taking the right precautions and providing a satisfactory working environment”.

For the purpose of this policy, “Hazard” refers to anything that can cause harm whilst “Risk” refers to the chance that someone will be harmed by the hazard.

The Lioncare Group operates its Health & Safety policy in line with and with regard to the following legislation:

- Health & Safety at Work etc. Act 1974
- Safety Representatives and Safety Committees Regulations 1977
- The Health & Safety (First Aid) Regulations 1981
- Electricity at Work Regulations 1989 (including Part P)
- Workplace (health, safety and welfare) Regulations 1992
- Manual Handling Operations Regulations 1992
- Health & Safety (consultation with employees) regulations 1996
- Provision and Use of Work Equipment Regulations 1998
- Management of Health & Safety at Work Regulations 1999 (risk assessment)
- Control of Substances Hazardous to Health Regulations 2002 (COSHH)
- Fire Regulatory Reform Order 2006

Statement of General Policy

This is the statement of general policy and arrangements for Lioncare Ltd and Seafields Ltd operating as The Lioncare Group.

Employees' Legal Responsibilities

It is the legal responsibility of each and all employees to:

- Co-operate with supervisors and managers on health and safety matters.

- Not interfere with anything provided to safeguard their health and safety.
- Take reasonable care of their health and safety.
- Report all health and safety concerns to an appropriate person (as detailed above).
- Ensure the health and safety of the Children in our care is maintained at all times through adequate and appropriate levels of supervision, risk assessment, preventative action, and monitoring.

Risk Assessment & Management

General building risk assessments for each property owned or operated by The Lioncare Group will be undertaken by the H&S Officer every 6 months or sooner if there are significant changes to the premises, and the findings of the building risk assessment will be reported to The Executive Director of The Lioncare Group in the form of a completed and typed Buildings Risk Assessment Report. This report will be stored on the google drive and made available to authorised officials and relevant external agencies on request.

Action required to remove and/or control risks will be approved by The Executive Director of The Lioncare Group.

The named individuals as stated above, along with the maintenance team, will be jointly responsible for ensuring the action required is implemented in their respective departments. They will also check that the implemented actions have removed and/or reduced the risks. A monitoring form will be used by the named individuals to record the outcome of their checks following implemented actions, and submitted to The Executive Director of The Lioncare Group for final authorisation.

Assessment will be reviewed every 6 months or when the work activity changes, whichever is soonest.

Risk Assessment in the Therapeutic Care and Education of Children

The work carried out by employees of The Lioncare Group of caring for and educating Children experiencing emotional and behavioural difficulties is intrinsically hazardous and potentially high risk. The Lioncare Group recognises that risk taking forms a necessary and healthy part of the maturation process and that in helping Children to develop and grow (emotionally, socially and culturally) adult carers (i.e. employees) must be prepared to take risks. Children who have suffered any form of abuse may well have particular needs over and above the needs of other Children. It is essential to ensure that these needs are met when preparing Children to move on. Care must be taken to ensure that Children do not fail to achieve their full potential as a result of under expectation. In addition, specific health requirements may have an impact on risk assessment of specific Children in our care.

The appropriate risks that employees take in carrying out their therapeutic care and education duties cannot be prescribed in any policy - a prescriptive and lengthy list would be impracticable and unrealistic and each individual in each situation differs from the next. When risks are assessed, consideration should always be given to the safety of the child and others and to the principles that underpin the Children Act 1989, that is, 'The children's welfare being of paramount importance'.

Employees and Children from time to time will make mistakes and these assist us all in our learning. We therefore take the view that these mistakes should be addressed with sensitively and positively not with derision and contempt. An integral part of our ethos surrounds helping Children to accept responsibility and consequences of their actions. We do not approach this in a threatening and punitive way and do not allow employees to use this as a mean of transferring their responsibilities on to the Children in their care. When assessing and managing risk there must clear understand of the boundaries that separate the adult employee's role and that of the child. Consideration is also given with regards to the child's relevant plans and the circumstances that prevail at that particular time. Employees are advised to consult their line managers on any issues that they feel unclear about.

Assessing risk is a core element in the general nurturing and support given to any child. Decisions associated with risk assessment and management have the safety and the interest of the child central at all times.

Risk assessment and management in the context of allowing Children to take risks in their lives is the real test of how much a home has succeeded in creating an environment and a system that respects the rights of individuals to choice and to be accountable for their own actions. The risk assessment and management process adopted by The Lioncare Group requires employees to specify any action taken or needed to minimise risk. Contingency plans may be required in the event of an emergency. All risk elements in the child's care and education plans should be subject to negotiation and agreement and should be regularly reviewed. The child, social worker and parents (where appropriate) should be included fully in such negotiations. This may amount to asking significant others in the child's life for advice or to refer to additional professional advice.

We recognise that it is our key duty to provide a safe, secure and fulfilling living environment for Children, but also that Children have the right to choose and this includes a right to take risks. Risk assessment and management is about ensuring that Children are supported and allowed, enabled, and assisted in taking risks as part of their maturation process. In the main, the process of risk assessment on a day-to-day basis is carried out in the form of discussions during handover meetings, team meetings, and during the process of general planning and organising the day. Written information regarding the overall assessment of potential risk faced / posed by each child is:

- formalised during the pre-admission stage prior to a placement being offered in the form of an Initial Impact Assessment
- at the Placement Planning stage in the form of an Initial Placement Plan agreed at the Initial Placement Planning Meeting
- in the Safeguarding Risk Profile created and updated for every child cared for in the Homes
- in the equivalent document drawn up for every child attending our School
- in all other relevant plans
- through the Psychodynamic Assessment of Emotional Need meetings and reports
- CLA / LAC statutory review meeting

In addition, risk assessments and strategies to mitigate and/or minimise the risks identified are carried out and produced for specific planned activities such as the holidays arranged by the home or off site activities organised by the school.

When employees do not agree, or assess that a particular risk is unacceptable, they inform the respective Registered Manager or Head Teacher and record this in writing. This is undertaken in the understanding of the following:

- The need to avoid being overprotective or patronising to Children.
- Awareness of not forcing or coercing Children to do things that they do not wish to do, or not do something they wish to do and that would be beneficial to them.
- Our duty to protect Children and provide them with a safe living and learning environment.

If for any reason an employee perceives the need to limit or restrict choices and freedom, the reason is discussed with the respective Registered Manager / Head Teacher and the child's social worker and / or significant others. The fundamental issue is to assist the employee in appreciating the necessary balance between risks, rights and responsibilities.

Consultation with Employees

In accordance with the Health & Safety (consultation with employees) Regulations 1996, and following discussion, The Executive Director of The Lioncare Group recognises Celeste Balmer as the recognised Health & Safety Representative of The Organisation. Celeste has received appropriate training under the NEBOSH qualification to provide them with the necessary and adequate levels of skills and knowledge to carry out the duties required of this role.

Therefore, all employees should regard the H&S and Office Manager as being available if required to act as employee representative on matters relating to Health and Safety in the work place. However, In keeping with the ethos of openness, honesty, and promotion of positive working practice between all those associated with the operation of The Lioncare Group, it is the wish of The Executive Director that where possible, employees be consulted on health and safety matters directly through the line management system in operation, supervisions, and through the various forums for communication and exchange of information.

Equipment Safety

The named individual for each department as stated above is responsible for identifying all equipment needing maintenance in that specific department. In particular, this includes all kitchen appliances, electrical appliances, lighting, and domestic machinery located in each department. Any problems found with equipment should in the first instance be reported to the named individual for the appropriate department.

The named individual is responsible for alerting the maintenance team to the problem, overseeing the repair or replacement of the equipment, and authorising completion of the task.

The maintenance team are responsible for ensuring regular checking of all portable electrical appliances located in each department through the Portable Appliance Testing (PAT) procedure, for which they are trained and qualified to carry out. The maintenance team are also responsible for ensuring all appliances comply with current health and safety standards.

Maintenance of all domestic appliances (washing machines, tumble dryers) is overseen by an external servicing company who are responsible for conducting regular and effective checks of the equipment in line with contractual agreements.

Safe Handling and Use of Substances

The recognised Health & Safety Representative of The Organisation is responsible for;

- identifying all substances which need a COSHH assessment across the organisation
- undertaking COSHH assessments across the organisation
- ensuring that all actions identified in the assessments are implemented across the organisation
- ensuring that all relevant employees are informed about the COSHH assessments across the organisation
- checking that new substances can be used safely before they are purchased

Assessments will be reviewed every six months or when the work activity changes, whichever is the soonest, and will be presented in the form of a COSHH Assessment report made readily available to all employees across the organisation.

Information, Instruction, and Supervision

Health and Safety Law information is issued to all employees as part of their initial induction package.

Health and safety advice is available from the Organisation's recognised Health and Safety Representative.

Supervision of all employees is arranged / undertaken / monitored by their respective line managers. Each employee is informed of the name of their line manager during their initial induction. Employees are informed by the respective member of the Senior Leadership Team of any changes in the line management arrangements affecting them.

All employees are provided with initial induction training through the organisation's recognised initial induction programme. This is organised by the Registered Manager or Head Teacher of each setting or work-base, implemented by the employee's line manager, and delivered by members of the management team with support in relevant areas from the employee's colleagues. Please refer to the Induction Policy for a more comprehensive review of the induction process.

In addition, all employees are provided with ongoing basic training during their first six months of employment. The areas covered by the basic training programme, and the method of delivery for each area is as listed below:

- fire prevention: In-House (designated fire officer for each department)
- basic first aid: External provider (British Red Cross)
- food hygiene: online learning
- methods of control and restraint: In-House (The Lioncare Group's W.A.V.E. Instructor)
- Face-to-Face Safeguarding & Child Protection: External Provider (Gretchen Precey Social Work Ltd)
- health and safety [Safe Environments]: In-House (Celeste Balmer; H&S Officer)
- equality and diversity: External provider (Norman Mark Training)

All employees are provided with a programme of training in Level 3 Diploma for the Children and Children's Workforce during their initial 12-18 months of employment.

Training records are maintained in each employee's personnel file which is managed by the Administrator for The Lioncare Group and kept at Lioncare House (Head Office).

Identification of training needs is initially carried out, arranged, and monitored by line managers and supervisors, and Registered Managers / Head Teacher, and overseen by the Assistant Director and the Executive Director.

Accidents, First-Aid, and Work-Related Ill Health

The work carried out by employees of The Lioncare Group of caring for and educating Children experiencing emotional and behavioural difficulties can at times be emotionally and physically stressful on employees. In this respect, health surveillance is a necessary and important duty of all employees – both their own, and that of their colleagues.

Line managers have specific responsibility for monitoring and addressing the current state of health and well-being of their respective supervisees through the line management and supervision system in place across the organisation. Individual employees also have a duty to monitor and assess their own current state of health and well-being and inform their line managers of any problems as (or ideally before) they arise.

In addition, the Administrator for The Lioncare Group has responsibility for maintaining an accurate record of absence through sickness and ill-health through use of the self-certification forms required from all employees who are absent from their place of work for any period of time through ill-health or sickness, and through use of Doctor certificates required from all employees who are absent from their place of work for a period of seven days or more through ill-health or sickness.

The Lioncare Group operates a health monitoring programme for all employees in which any employee who is absent from their place of work through ill-health or sickness on three occasions within any three month period is required to attend a welfare meeting with their line manager for the purpose of assessing their fitness to work, recognising any aspects of the employees duties or role that may be affecting their good health, and seeking strategies to reduce work related aspects affecting the employees good health.

Any employee who is absent from their place of work through ill-health or sickness for a period of three or more consecutive weeks is required to attend a return to work meeting with their line manager for the purpose of assessing their fitness to return to work, ensuring all conditions of employment related to their absence have are appropriately addressed, and provide the employee with relevant information and / or re-induction training to assist their smooth transition and reintegration back to work.

All individual records relating to health surveillance are maintained in each employee's personnel file which is managed by the Administrator for The Lioncare Group and kept at Lioncare House (Head Office). All general records relating to health surveillance of the workforce in general are maintained on computer database and managed by the Administrator for The Lioncare Group based at Lioncare House (Head Office).

First-Aid boxes are kept in prominent locations within each department owned or operated by The Lioncare Group. These are, the kitchen area, the adult's lounge in the homes, the staff room and medical room in the school, and in every company owned vehicle or vehicle temporarily hired for the transportation of employees and Children.

Ligature-cutters are also kept in designated locations around the Homes and School in the vehicles operated by the organisation.

In recognition of the fact that all employees are regularly carrying out close supervision of the Children in our care within the homes, school, and in the wider community, it is the policy of The Lioncare Group that every employee receives the recognised British Red Cross training "First Aid for Child Carers". In this way, every employee is an appointed first aider.

All accidents and cases of work-related ill health suffered by employees are recorded on accident report forms. Each completed form is individually signed off by the Registered Manager of the respective home or the Head Teacher. They are then maintained in securely online through use of google drive and/or BehaviourWatch, and inspected monthly by the Independent Visitor during their monthly visits, and by the Ofsted Inspector every six months (in the homes) or at school inspections, in addition to the monitoring carried out by the Registered Managers and Head Teacher, and the Service Manager. Accidents and cases of work-related ill health suffered by employees based at Lioncare House (Head Office) are recorded in the accident book which is located by the first aid box in the kitchen, and monitored by The Executive Director.

The Registered Manager of each home and the Head Teacher is responsible for reporting accidents, diseases, and dangerous occurrences happening in their respective departments to the relevant enforcing authority or regulatory body. The Administrator has responsibility for reporting accidents, diseases, and dangerous occurrences happening at Lioncare House. The Executive Director assumes overall responsibility for monitoring good practice in this area.

Emergency Procedures – Fire and Evacuation

All departments operating within The Lioncare Group (with the exception of Forest House based in Loughton, Essex) are registered under East Sussex Fire Brigade, and fully conform to all recommendations and standards, and to those of OfSTED.

A record of fire prevention inspections is maintained within each home and the school. This includes a log detailing the weekly testing of smoke, and heat detectors, escape routes, and fire alarm points (on a rotating basis over the month) carried out by the designated fire officer in each department, and also of the practice emergency fire drill (conducted every 3 months), as carried out by the respective allocated officer with responsibility for this area in each department.

All employees of The Lioncare Group are made aware of the procedure for emergency evacuation of the building, familiarised with all fire exists, and informed in the appropriate use of fire extinguishing apparatus during initial induction training during their first two weeks of employment and periodically throughout their employment.

All children are made aware of the procedure for emergency evacuation of the building, familiarised with all fire exists, and informed of all matters relevant to keeping safe in the event of an emergency situation, during their visits to the home or school, and after their admission, and periodically thereafter. There is also information in the Welcome Book.

All fire detection, prevention and extinguishing appliances and equipment are tested and maintained on a regular basis (minimum six monthly) by an external professionally trained and experienced agency.

Once every three months, the designated Fire Warden for each department initiates the fire alarm system at an unplanned time, to monitor and assess the appropriate responses of employees and Children to an emergency situation.
